BORDER WAR CEASES AS TRUCK LICENSE CASE GOES TO COURT

Illinois, Wisconsin Await a Decision in Truck
License Row

(Antioch News Special Service)
An "armistice" was declared yesterday in the Wisconsin-Illinois controversy over license plates for motor trucks, when an Illinois operator of a truck was arrested in Wisconsin with a view to carrying the case to the supreme court of Wisconsin. Both states have agreed, according to the Chicago Motor Club, to make no more arrests of this character until the high court hands down a decision some months in the future.

Officials Reach Agreement.
This agreement, the motor club reported, came about as a result of a conference between Homer G. Bell, chief investigator for the Illinois secretary of state, and Phil Harmon, who holds the same post in Wisconsin. The proposal to carry a test case to the Wisconsin high court was urged by Warren E. Wright, secretary of the Central Motor Freight Association.

The controversy originated when Wisconsin began to enforce a recently adopted law which provides that all "foreign" motor trucks entering Wisconsin more than once in a year shall carry Wisconsin license plates. Illinois authorities, with over Wisconsin's action, retaliated by ordering drivers of Wisconsin trucks arrested and held until the owner applied for Illinois licenses or bond was made. This procedure was permissible under section 20 of the Illinois motor vehicle act.

Fines May Be Refunded.
Wisconsin has agreed to return all money collected from Illinois truck operators for alleged violation of the new law in the event the Wisconsin supreme court hands down a decision nullifying the legislation.
Acting upon state orders, State Highway Patrolmen Litweller and Valenta made eight arrests of truck drivers here last week, according to Justice Sam Tarrill, who handled the cases. Two of the drivers who were farmers living just across the border were released. The other six paid fines in the local court, ranging from $5 to $15.

Future Farmers In Action

Lloyd Barnstable, Charles Ferris and Fred Griffin are touring the southern states. The latest report of their whereabouts came from Alabama.

C. L. Kutt and Arthur Griffin have been kept busy spraying fruit trees throughout the community.
Homer Edwards, American Farmer, returned from the University of Illinois, where he has been enrolled in the college of agriculture. Ward Edwards, Robert Hughes and Jack Neahus returned to Urbana and brought Homer back with them.

C. L. Kutt and Albert Herman spent two afternoons ear tagging 4-H club livestock last week.
This is a good time to have your caponizing done. C. L. Kutt caponized forty birds last Friday for Thorval Johnson.

Five judging teams are being coached for the state judging contest, which will be held next week on Friday and Saturday, at the University of Illinois.

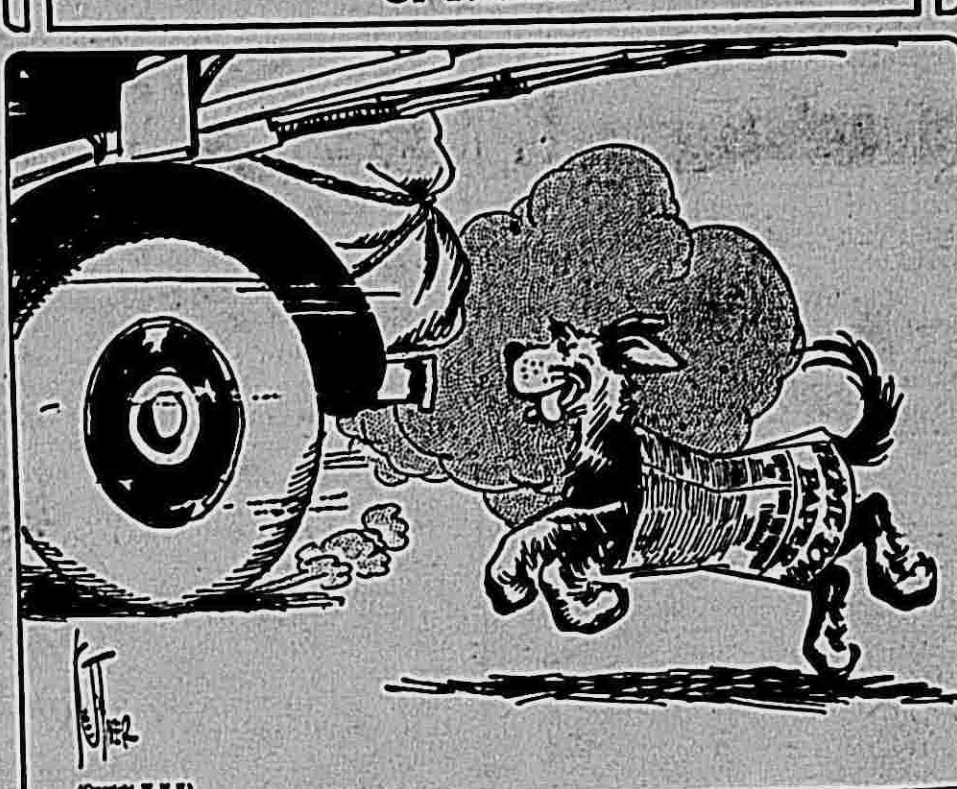

The annual convention of the State Association of Future Farmers and the state public speaking contest will also be held at the same time.

REGISTRATION IN VOTING DISTRICTS TO BE EQUALIZED

The decided inequality in the registration of the three voting precincts of Antioch was changed Monday by the county board of supervisors so that each precinct will contain an equal number of voters, approximately 500 each. Under the old boundaries, precinct 1 had a registration of 800, while the third precinct totaled scarcely 200.

Republican committeemen are Albert Tiffany, precinct 1; Chase Webb, precinct 2, and Arthur Gardiner, precinct 3. Elmer Sorenson is the Democratic committeeman for the first precinct and William V. Jackson serves for the third.

The steady pitching of Ed Dressel, West Side pitcher, proved effective Monday afternoon in revenging the defeat suffered by his team at the hands (and feet) of the East Siders Thursday. The teams are still tied in the number of games won and lost. A 7-4 win was matched by the East Siders Thursday in the eighth and ninth innings, when they took advantage of several wild throws made by their opponents. The West Siders retaliated Monday by coming back for a 7-5 victory.

COL. SMITH TO PUT SILENCER ON SLOT MACHINE 'RACKET'

Al Capone Gang Said to Be Installing Machines in Lake County

War on the slot machine racket was declared this week by Col. A. V. Smith when it was learned that nearly a hundred slot machines had been distributed by alleged representatives of the Al Capone interests. The ban on the racket in Cook county has forced the operators across the Cook county line into the Illinois and Wisconsin lake resort districts. It is said. These machines are of the quarter variety, but it is believed that if the racketeers are successful in evading interference of the law, nickel and dime machines will be installed wholesale throughout the county.

When informed of this latest invasion, Colonel Smith declared that he was unaware that any were in operation in the county and that on their latest tour his men had found none. He promised, however, that as soon as any were discovered to be running they would be stopped.

The failure of the squad to discover any machines when touring the county Tuesday is believed due to the fact that some resorts and barroom proprietors put out the gambling devices only on week ends.

Until this last invasion, the county has been practically free from these gambling devices.

Lumbermen Vie In Chain O' Lakes Golf Tourney Today

Committee Arranges a Full Day's Program of Golf Events

Golf enthusiasts are gathered at the Chain O' Lakes golf course today to contend for honors in the eleventh semi-annual spring golf tournament of the Lumbermen's Coal and Building Material Dealers' Association.

A full day of golf events has been arranged by the program committee, which is composed of Herb J. Vos, Rush E. Hussey, Tom Meade, Dan Boyer, W. E. Brandt and Sid Sennott. An 18-hole event for retail building material dealers and lumbermen, which never fails to enlist many competitors, and blind bogey, low net, low puts, low foursome, water hole and low gross on four short holes for everybody comprise the tournament schedule for the day.

A luncheon will be served at the Chain O' Lakes golf club at noon, and a dinner will be held at Pregener's place in the evening.

In previous seasons, about 200 participants have entered in the various events, but with the yearly increase in interest the number of entrants this year is expected to exceed any former number. The Chain O' Lakes course is considered one of the smoothest and best in Lake county.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Drullner, of Chicago, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Waldo. Other guests of the Waldos were Mrs. George Burdick and Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Milwaukee.

ARREST FRANK KAMIN'S BROTHER IN BANK ROBBERY

Joe Kamin Taken on Charge of Assisting in Recent Burlington Job

Joe Kamin, of Silver Lake Wis., believed to be the fourth member of the bandit gang which robbed the Mainhardt State Bank of Burlington a month ago, was arrested by Racine county officials Friday on a charge of harboring and assisting Frank Kamin, and the Flecker brothers.
Joe Kamin is still in the Kenosha hospital recovering from three bullet wounds in his body which authorities are convinced were received when Officer Schenning of Burlington discharged his gun into the fleeing car upon being informed of the robbery.

Unable to Give Bail.
Kamin is being held in the Racine county jail, as he was unable to post $12,000 bond. His case will be heard tomorrow.

Michael Flecker was freed Tuesday on grounds of insufficient evidence, but his brother, Reinhold, is still in the Racine jail under bail of $20,000.

Silver Lake bank officials, upon the arrest of Frank Kamin and the Flecker brothers in Twin Lakes, identified the weapons used in the Burlington bank robbery as the same ones used by the bandit gang which robbed the Silver Lake bank last fall. At that time Kamin and the Fleckers were suspected but no definite action was taken.

Kamin first began his practice of helping himself to bank funds in Antioch, when, after being employed in the State Bank as teller for four years, he was found short $2,300 in bank funds. No charge was pressed at that time.

DATES FOR SECOND LEGION FESTIVAL ARE ANNOUNCED

Antioch will be transformed into a "Fair Town" once more, when the Second Annual Legion Festival is held July 3, 4, 5 and 6, on the grounds south of the Antioch Sales and Service station, where it was held last year.

Committees are arranging to provide entertainment to please every one—free acts, rides, a merry-go-round, stands of every description, and a gorgeous display of fireworks on the night of the Fourth.

Thieves Loot Filling Station And "Cupboard"

No clue has been obtained as to the identity of the petty thieves who broke into Frank Hunt's new filling station opposite St. Peter's church Monday night, and into Vic Bown's "Cupboard" the following night.

The early morning marauders forced their entrances into both places by jimmying a window. Candy, cigars and oil were discovered to be missing from Hunt's, and $15 in cash from the "Cupboard." The fact that nothing but money was taken from the "Cupboard" suggests that the thefts may have been done by different persons.

It is thought that the person who plundered the $15 from the "Cupboard" must be someone acquainted with the habits of the proprietor. Bown says that it is his custom to take all cash from the place when he closes, but on this particular night, he had left the place in the care of an assistant, who placed the money in a cash drawer before looking up about 1:30 Wednesday morning.

COURT ORDERS SPIERING FROM CHURCH PROPERTY

Trustees Win First Round in Circuit Court; Squatter
May Appeal Case

A judgment against Clarence Spiering, upholding Justice William Reagan's decision to oust him from the Hickory Corners Methodist church in which he and his family have been residing since his own home was destroyed by fire in February, was handed in by the jury Tuesday, upon the direction of Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady.

Action on a forcible entry and detainer charge was brought against him by the trustees of the church who desire to regain possession of the property.

May Appeal Case.
If Spiering appeals the case to the appellate court as he has indicated, it may be three or four years before he is really forced to vacate the church. Lawyers contend that it will take an ejectment suit lawfully to evict him from the building, and that he is entitled to three such trials before the matter is definitely settled.

In the meantime, he and his family probably will continue to make the church their abode.
Under the terms of the deed, the church property was donated to the district to be used for religious purposes, and in the event that it was no longer used for such purposes, it should revert to the heirs. As regular services have not been held there for nine years, Spiering contends that the property should be taken from the trustees and returned to himself as the purchaser of the farm from which it was originally taken.

Spiering has forcibly resisted all attempts by the trustees to enter the church, or hold services. When the district would have held services about two months ago, Spiering's child contracted the mumps, and a large sign proved effective in halting attempts to enter.

BOARD VOTES HALF ITS JUNE WAGE TO POOR

Adopts Measures to Prevent Exceeding
County Income

VERCOE DEFENDS BOND SALE

Emphasizing the assertion of leaders of the Lake county board of supervisors that a program of rigid economy must be followed and that expenditures must be kept to the absolute minimum if the county is to remain solvent, board members voted Tuesday to give two days' pay—about half of the remuneration for June, for benefit of the Lake county poor. The resolution carried 21 to 20.

VERCOE REPORTS.

Supervisor Arthur Vercoe, Highland Park banker, and chairman of the finance committee, explained that the county cannot anticipate more than $300,000 revenue, which is smaller than the usual returns, and expenses, due to the poor, will be greater than ever.

In order to keep the county from exceeding its income, Supervisor Vercoe urged that strictest economy be practiced in all departments, and advised the delaying of minor repair work on public buildings, and the suspension of all other work that could not be deemed an emergency until the county finds itself financially able to carry out the work.

Tells of Bond Sale.

Regarding the sale of $125,000 county road bond issue approved by referendum on April, 130, Vercoe told the supervisor board that taxpayers of Lake county had not paid one cent interest. He did not, however, explain just how much of the state gas tax money will be paid for road building and how much for interest. The interest is simply deducted from funds received from the state, leaving just that much less for road construction.

Vercoe states that all of the bond issue was sold at one time so that the county could obtain the $108,000 premium offered by the Northern Trust Company.

Pest Bounties Dropped.

One of the economy moves adopted by the board Tuesday was the dropping, temporarily at least, the payment of bounties on crows, crows' eggs and groundhogs. The standing offer of $100 rewards for the apprehension of stock and chicken thieves was also abandoned. The board will not publish the list of patients at the county hospital, it was decided.

Hint of Labor Racket Here.

Failure of construction companies to keep their promises to hire Lake county labor drew sharp criticism from Supervisor Matt Dilger and others.

According to Dilger, none of the unemployed men he sent to contractors was hired except one, and he was told by Tony Rossi, Highland man, that he would have to make $5 deposit to secure a union card before he would be permitted to work. Twenty jobless Waukegan men who have families to support were refused work, Dilger said.

Supervisor Mawman, who was strong in his criticism, said: "Rossi is without power or right to dictate to the Lake county board or to keep unemployed desperately in need of money from working on roads for which Lake county taxpayers are paying."

Supervisor Frank Stanton, of Fox Lake, chairman of the road committee, said contractors had promised to use county unemployed as 40 per cent of their force.

The session will probably close today with the reading and passing of the bills. Again, in this regard, the board was warned by the Waukegan Taxpayers Association against the passing of claims not in conformity with the law.

They put on at the annual meeting last winter, which was rendered most successfully. Besides the play, an address will be given by Miss Lulu Black, of the University of Illinois, special readings and special musical numbers.

All women in Lake county are specially invited to this meeting, which is being sponsored by the Home Bureau organization.

At the present time considerably over 200 hundred of the 400 required members have signed.

THE "HIGH COST" ROAD WASTE

The need for scientific investigation of possible road materials by any state or county planning highway developments, cannot be over-emphasized.

"Political roads" have cost millions of dollars. Roads that do not serve sufficient people to justify themselves, roads of inferior construction that require excessive upkeep costs, high-type roads costing $30,000 or $40,000 a mile where a $5,000-a-mile road would do—few states have escaped such waste.

At present, with the farm-to-market road movement receiving more than ordinary support, it should be the aim of every community to demand the utmost return for every dollar spent. In recent years waterproof surfacing materials have been perfected to use on local road bases, that give remarkably good, year-round service at an amazingly low cost. Modern construction methods and economy in secondary road building should make it possible to provide almost all rural areas continuous year-round contact with the outside world in the comparatively near future.

The taxpayers must give this subject intelligent consideration.

NEED MORE BOSTON TEA PARTIES

In its issue of May 9, the Saturday Evening Post rendered a real public service to the people of the United States in its straight-from-the-shoulder editorial criticizing the orgy of spending by members of the legislative and tax disbursing bodies.

It pointed out that spending other people's money is a favorite pastime of politicians and that when they have cleaned out everything and everybody, they do not stop but simply hunt for new ways to jack up old taxes or to find new things to tax. The people have stopped their wild spending but the politicians are still on a tax-disbursing spree.

"Ways and methods of spending and financing that would meet with the severest reprobation in the case of an individual, are considered perfectly sound procedure by the politicians," said the Post.

"Reckless and prodigal private and public spending have exactly the same finish.

"The public-improvement-vote-buying legislator is worse for the country than fire and pestilence."

It likens a majority of our public improvements to yachts, where the upkeep is worse than the first cost. Such improvements bring a swarm of public servants who must be paid out of new taxes.

It cites England, Germany and Russia where paternalism and actual confiscation of property have caused tax loads and destruction of wealth which can and will wreck any government.

In conclusion, it says: "Our greatest need right now is fewer cocktail parties and more tea parties—of the Boston kind."

According to Senator Ewing, this would include the establishment of uniform rates, the imposition of adequate taxes to pay for road destruction, and a revision of the laws governing the length, width, height and particularly the weight of freight vans and high-speed busses, which Senator Ewing says are demolishing the highways and exploiting them for profit without making equitable return to the people for the use and abuse of such public property.

The association, Senator Ewing related, was born with a membership approximately 10,000 private motorists and taxpayers from every part of Illinois.

membership, he explained, is free. With the organization is incorporated for profit. At the same time he has as many private motorists and taxpayers as possible to join in the move of rebellion against further usurpation of the highways, by sending their applications direct to him at the state capitol in Springfield.

Every membership received, he said, would count as an additional vote of protest, to apprise the lawmakers of Illinois in unmistakable terms, of the rising tide of public indignation against confiscation of the highways by the commercial interests, which he said, were resisting every effort to place them under responsible control.

Supreme Court Hits
at Bus Lines

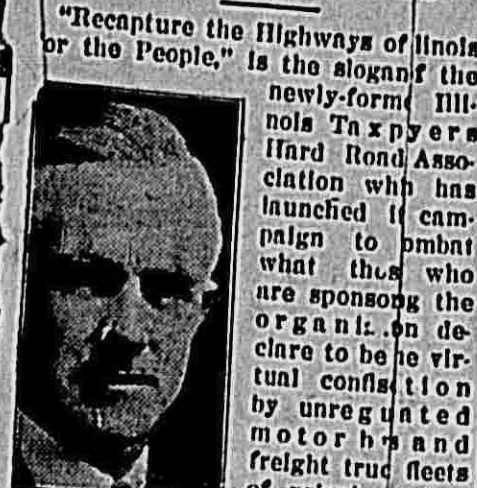

Members of the Illinois Taxpayers Road Association were today apprised of a recent decision of the Supreme court in the case of Chonté vs. the Commerce Commission, in which is contained the court's opinion of what the future holds forth if high-speed busses and commercial freight vans are permitted to continue their destruction of the highways built at public expense.

The decision, which is to be found in 309 Ill. 248 on page 256, uses the following language with reference to this public question: "If the permanent highways built at the expense of the people are destroyed, these irresponsible bus lines, that profess to serve the public convenience and to supply public necessity, will leave the public to walk or to provide other transportation facilities."

Research conducted by the association reveals that it costs the taxpayers and private motorists of the state more than $10,000,000 a year for road repairs alone and that this bill is rapidly mounting as the highways are being pounded to pieces by the heavy commercial traffic.

Chicago.—Plans to erect memorials in the form of eternal electric beacons, to honor the memories of Policemen Anthony Ruthy and Patrick Durkin, who were shot down by a fugitive bank robber here, were being perfected today by tenants of the Medical and Dental Arts building and the Old Dearborn Bank building, through Manager A. H. Witthoft. The building tenants have started a fund to carry through the idea which countenances placing a memorial at each of the corners on Michigan avenue where the slain officers directed traffic at the time they were shot down.

Organization Is Formed to Halt Road Destruction.

Senator Ewing.

ton L. Ewing, well-known Kna county farm leader and legislator, is president of the organization which has the backing of numerous civic and taxpaying bodies of the state. The board of directors consists of Mayor John Murray of Herrin, W. E. Fischer, president of the Beardstown Chamber of Commerce, J. Kendall S. Mitchell, prominent Chicago attorney, and winter residents of such cities as Aurora, and central, West Frankfort and Peoria. As indicated in its charter granted easily, the association's program calls for a campaign for four-lane traffic can be cleared, intersection safety lights, different markers and extension of the walls.

According to Senator Ewing, this would include the establishment of uniform rates, the imposition of adequate taxes to pay for road destruction, and a revision of the laws governing the length, width, height and particularly the weight of freight vans and high-speed busses, which Senator Ewing says are demolishing the highways and exploiting them for profit without making equitable return to the people for the use and abuse of such public property.

The association, Senator Ewing related, was born with a membership approximately 10,000 private motorists and taxpayers from every part of Illinois.

membership, he explained, is free. With the organization is incorporated for profit. At the same time he has as many private motorists and taxpayers as possible to join in the move of rebellion against further usurpation of the highways, by sending their applications direct to him at the state capitol in Springfield.

Every membership received, he said, would count as an additional vote of protest, to apprise the lawmakers of Illinois in unmistakable terms, of the rising tide of public indignation against confiscation of the highways by the commercial interests, which he said, were resisting every effort to place them under responsible control.

She was presented with a gift for her small daughter by the Woman's Club, who sponsored the party. Much amusement was created by the photographs brought by each one, the photographs having been taken at a very early age.

Mrs. John Cribb, though still very ill, came home last Friday from the Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan, where she had been a patient for nearly three weeks. On Monday she was removed in an ambulance to a hospital at Prairie du Chien, Wis., where she will receive special treatment for two or three weeks.

The organization of the new fire department is progressing nicely and will soon be a real one.

The Ladies' Aid society served a dinner at the church Wednesday evening and served strawberry shortcake for dessert, and was it good!

The primary department of the Sunday school enjoyed a party at the church Saturday afternoon, but the weather was so wet that it was an indoor party instead of a lawn party, as had been planned.

Economical as Well as Pleasing to Eye

Every one has two or three or more pairs of shoes to wear on various occasions. We call it economy to possess more than one pair. But should economy be practiced with shoes or personal apparel more than for our houses? Rooms are entitled to seasonal changes. If they are to maintain a charmingly alive appearance, when summer comes it is time to shed the heavy winter woolens and don light cool garments.

When purchasing or making curtains, it is just as practical to make two sets at the same time—one of bright color and heavy material for winter, and the other of light material and cool colors for summer. Other inexpensive alterations can be made easily. The very flowers in the windows can be daintier and more in keeping with summer. Lamp shades can be changed; rugs re-arranged; a different set of pictures hung upon the walls; table, desk, stand and piano scarves of lighter hue substituted. For those who use slip covers on the furniture, an admirable opportunity is offered for a decided change from wintry coziness to summery airiness.

Wicker furniture is delightfully suited to summer use. Fortunate housewives who have a storeroom full of furniture left by some relative have an unexcelled excuse for exercising their ingenious powers for transformation.

HOT WATER REMOVES
BERRY ICE CREAM
FROM GOODS

Strawberry ice cream cones, the delight of children in hot weather, may be the despair of mothers if spilled on a freshly cleaned Sunday frock, or pressed trousers. Last month we told how to remove vanilla and chocolate ice cream stains, and promised soon a means of removing stains from berry-flavored ice cream. Here it is.

To remove berry-flavored ice cream stains from washable material, stretch the stained portion over a bowl, and pour boiling water from a height of 3 or 4 feet, so that the water strikes the stain with some force. Alternate applications of hot water with rubbing. If necessary, bleach in sunlight, or loosen obstinate stains by moistening with lemon-juice, acetic acid, or oxalic acid. White materials, except rayon, may be treated with stable market hydrosulphites or potassium permanganate. Pink or brown stains left by these solutions may be removed by hydrogen peroxide, slightly acid, on wool; and oxalic acid (poison) in saturated solution, or lemon juice for cotton, linen or silk.

Made Sewing Machine Success
The earliest step in the perfection of the sewing machine was taken by Elias Howe, who conceived the idea of placing the eye in the needle near the point, instead of at the head, and thus paved the way for Mr. Singer and his rivals.

HOW much does your weekly

A market basket providing adequate food for five persons for one week need cost only $6.55, according to a recent estimate issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of Home Economics and the Woman's Division of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment.

Prices for the weekly basket differ in different localities. Pittsburgh has the lowest prices—

$5.88. In New York City, the same basket will cost $7.03.

Below are the foods recommended for the weekly basket for a family of five, including father, mother and three children.

While the list includes dried vegetables, the cheapest possible form, many busy women who do not have time to cook and prepare these vegetables are buying canned fruits and vegetables, now offered at low prices. These being ready-prepared, also save fuel.

Of the nearly 99,000 girls they have trained for the stage in their Hollywood studios, Fanchon and Marco believe 19-year-old Moray Fore, blonde acrobatic dancer, is the most nearly perfect all around specimen of pulchritude that has come to their attention. They offer her as their contender for the honor of being known as the most beautiful and physically perfect girl on the stage today.

As in the case of the 1931 beauties named recently by Flo Ziegfeld and other eastern impresarios, the western beauty typifies the death of the boyish figure craze and the return to normal feminine curves. Miss Fore is a home girl and goes in strong for tennis, swimming and other outdoor sports. Within reason she eats what she likes, has no faith in what she describes as "silly dieting fads," and includes in her diet plenty of sweets and other energy builders to support her stage and outdoor life.

NEEDLEWORK HAS OPPORTUNITY FOR INDIVIDUAL IDEASOld Standard Patterns and Designs Need Not Be Always Followed

The earth is round; the grass is green; the sky is blue. Such things no one questions. Some people, however, question nothing. If great grand-pap did thus and so, thus and so would be done by his descendants today, were they not carried along by the tide of progress begun by more visionary persons.

Certain things, of course, have been proved, through experiment, to be most convenient, proper, or suitable, and are therefore universally acceptable. A house must have a roof; but roofs need not be and are not designed alike—we build them thatched, flat, shingled, tarred, curved, slanting, domed, etc.

Changes Prevent Rustiness.
Thus it is in housekeeping. It is natural to make quilts square or oblong. A round bed spread would not fit the bed neatly. However: Why are all dish-towels made square or oblong? Would not a round one serve as well? Need dresser scarves, centerpieces, or table covers be round or square, or scalloped? Small rugs, in particular, might be varied into intriguing designs and shapes.

Every housewife wants to make her home neat and homelike. It would be folly to fill a house with bizarre articles, unconventional furniture, things not in the market. It never pays to acquire permanent articles of which one may later tire.

But to keep alive, interested, and abreast with the time, one cannot always be conservative. In baking and in needlework may be found the best outlet for individual ideas.

Needlework Offers Variety.
If you find pleasure in needlework, why not make a dresser scarf in the shape of a very round little cat, dog or elephant? Or if you are making a tea set, or dishcloths, could they not also be cut in the shape of an animal, or some object which does not have too many sharp angles and deep cut-outs?

The next time Grandmother or Auntie decides that she has enough rags or stockings collected to start a rug would be a fine time to interest her in making a pussy cat—a little round rug for the head, a big oval for the body, and small ovals for the legs and tail. Then with different colors a beautiful effect of light, color and shading might be worked out.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Topsy leaves home to follow his canary. After many adventures, Mr. Frog and Toy, the dewdrop, cause the Cushions to fight the Pillows, who have invaded the land of the Cloud-Queen. The Pillows, however, seem to be winning from the Cushions, so Topsy sets forth to train an army of Cloud-people. On the way, he gets lost, and meets a falcon, who laughs at him. Continue the story—

At last, when he could stand it no longer, Topsy broke forth, "Who are you?"
The falcon laughed crazily. "Who? Me? Why, don't you know me?" He laughed still harder.
"Why, how would I know you?" demanded Topsy in exasperation.
"How would you, there's a question, how would you?" And the falcon threw back its head in mocking glee.
"Talk sense, or I'll run you through, you idiot," shouted Topsy in a rage and ran toward the bird with his sword.

The falcon flapped to one side, cocked his head, and screamed with unearthly laughter.
Topsy felt suddenly beaten and sick. He turned away, hoping that the awful bird would not follow him. His hope was in vain. The bird kept exact step with him, grinning horribly.

Once Topsy looked at him disgustfully, and asked, "Where do you think you are going?"
The answer came instantly with a rude lilt, "Where do you think you are going, where do you think you are going?"

"Well, I don't know, if that's any satisfaction to you," Topsy retorted.
"Well, well, well, well!" ejaculated the falcon. "So we don't know where we are going, Well, well."

"Isn't that funny?" Topsy laughed hysterically, whereupon the bird chorled.
They walked on, after that, in silence.

In the hot sunlight, Topsy was growing more exhausted every step he took. When he felt that he could not go on, a Pillow guard appeared around a bend. It was too late for the boy to hide, for he had been seen. The Pillow was a burly fellow and strode toward Topsy with determination.

Topsy saw a sparkle begin to glimmer in the falcon's eye. That horrid bird! Topsy was too worn out to give battle, and he fancied that the big bird would triumph in his capture.

Nevertheless, he made a brave effort to withstand the Pillow. He thought of his Cloud-Queen, of Mr. Frog and poor little Toy, and of all the miserable people whom he had wished to save, and who would all be disappointed in him.

But he could stand no longer. He jabbed once at the Pillow, and then his sword was wrenched from him. He fell to his face, expecting to be captured at once.

An Electric Milk Cooler
Pays the Farmer Profits

Extra profits for the dairy are practically assured when you cool milk electrically. When milk is stored in an electric cooler bacteria growth is quickly checked. It can be safely kept until delivered without deterioration—and milk that is low in bacteria count and high in quality brings more money on the market.

Besides bringing extra profits, an electric milk cooler saves time and labor for the farmer. There are practical tanks for dairies of all sizes. You can get full information about cooling milk this modern way by writing or phoning your nearest Public Service Store. Without obligating you in any way, one of our men specially assigned to farm electrification will call on you.

How to play Bridge AUCTION or CONTRACT by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1930, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 15

One of the most frequent errors noted at the bridge table is "bidding to the score". Players seem to think that if they have a score toward game, they are justified in making bids that they would never think of doing if they had no score.

The following rule is very simple and should be thoroughly understood. "Never consider the score in making an offensive bid". In other words, the score is immaterial when you make an original bid. Such a bid should be the same, irrespective of the score. On the other hand, defensive bids should be made when the opponents' score is such that their bid, if made, will give them the game. Under such conditions the score is important, but players should be sure they understand the distinction: that is, from an offensive standpoint, the score is never important; but, from a defensive standpoint, it always is. Consider the following example hand:

Hearts—J, 5	Hearts—K, 10, 4, 3
Clubs—10, 9, 8, 3	Clubs—5, 4
Diamonds—Q, J, 10, 9, 3	Diamonds—7, 6, 5
Spades—9, 2	Spades—A, 5, 4, 3

Hearts—Q, 8, 6, 2	Hearts—A, 9, 7
Clubs—K, 6, 2	Clubs—A, Q, J, 7
Diamonds—8, 2	Diamonds—Q, 10, 8
Spades—K, J, 7, 6

Rubber game.
 AT AUCTION: Y-Z—16; A-B—0.
 AT CONTRACT: Y-Z—60; A-B—0.

AUCTION BIDDING:
 If Z bids "One No-Trump", A will say "No Bid" and, if Y also passes, B will say "No Bid". But if Y says "Two Diamonds", A at least is not going to leave it in. He will bid "Two Spades". With the score as it is, and with the feeling that Y has a weak hand, A will make an effort. Over "Two Spades" from A, Z will bid "Three Diamonds"; B will raise his side's bid to "Three Spades". If Z bids "Four Diamonds", Y fails by a trick. If Z doubles, A goes down only one trick, a cheap save at the score. There is nothing exceptional in the above hands. If it were love-all and Z bid "One No-Trump", it would be ridiculous for Y to take out with "Two Diamonds" on the above hand. Let Z have a chance to make game, and don't hoist the white flag by a "weak take-out". And even when the score is 16 or more, a take-out of "One No-Trump" into "Two Clubs" or "Two Diamonds" suggests a weak spot and encourages the opponents to enter the lists.

CONTRACT BIDDING:
 Z should bid one no trump and A should pass. At contract, Y's obligation to pass with such a weak hand is much stronger than at Auction. If Y passes, B will also pass and Z will play the hand at one no trump. Here is a neat little problem for you to consider:

Problem No. 10
Hearts—4	Hearts—Q, 8, 6
Clubs—Q, 10, 8	Clubs—K, 5
Diamonds—A, J, 9, 5	Diamonds—Q, 8, 4
Spades—none	Spades—none

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y-Z win seven of the eight tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

Solution to Problem No. 9
Hearts—A, Q, 10	Hearts—J, 9, 5, 3, 2
Clubs—A, K, Q	Clubs—9, 6, 5, 3
Diamonds—K, J, 9, 4	Diamonds—6, 3
Spades—J, 6, 4	Spades—8, 5

AUCTION BIDDING:
 No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one no trump and all passed. If A opened the five of diamonds, how should Z play the hand so that he can score a grand slam against any defense?

CONTRACT BIDDING:
 Z's proper opening bid is two no trumps. A passes and Y should bid for a grand slam. All pass and the play will be the same as at Auction.
 Solution: Z should win the first trick in his hand with the ace of diamonds, not the ten. He should then lead out his four top clubs and his three top hearts, being careful to have his own hand in the lead at the close of the eighth trick. On these seven tricks, A can follow suit only four times so is forced to make three discards. He cannot discard more than one diamond or Z can lead the ten of diamonds, finesse the jack and thus score three diamond tricks. (The reason for the play of the ace of diamonds at trick one should now be apparent). A is forced, therefore, to discard one diamond and two spades. The spade discards, however, enable Z to make four spade tricks. These tricks plus the king of diamonds enable Z to win every trick. There is no defense to this solution, which is a fine illustration of forcing discards.

Keeping Out the Weeds

The careful farmer cultivates his crops regularly and keeps out the weeds which would rob the growing plants of their nourishment.

The prudent man of affairs saves his money regularly, depositing a certain sum in his savings account.

Why regularly? Because the habit makes it easier for him to keep his surplus beyond the reach of the daily temptations for easy and wasteful spending. Those little temptations, like weeds, tend to destroy success. Are you cultivating your income, regularly?

THE SECRET LAGOON

After findin' th' pearls I figured that I'd be back aboard th' Lanui in no time. But thing don't always come out th' way we figger they should.

I'd left th' jungle and was just about to 'hall th' schooner, to have a boat come ashore for me, when out of th' brush leaped a lot of th' savages, grabbed me, tied me in a sort of sedan-chair and set off with me through th' jungle. When we reached th' native village they took me to th' devil-devil house, where they keep their gods, and put me on a kind of a throne between two of 'em.

You see, I was in my divin'-suit, with th' big brass helmet. They'd never seen anything like that, so they took me for a god. I was just gettin' my bearin's when I heard shootin' out on th' lagoon. About an hour later a lot of yellin' savages shoved Barney, and Tony, th' cook, into th' devil-devil house and right to where I was sittin'. You should have seen their eyes pop when they saw me sittin' on th' throne.

I whispered to Spike and Tony to kneel in front of me, and told Spike to blow into my air-hose. My suit began to swell with th' air an' I kept gettin' bigger and bigger all th' time. Well a'r, th' savages lit out o' there like old Nick was after 'em. In no time th' village was deserted. A half-hour later we were back aboard th' Lanui, hoisted th' anchor and were off.

In my next yarn I'll tell you about an adventure with giant lizards.

Many office-holders who are thoroughly honest and trustworthy in private life—men who would not think of cheating or defrauding a neighbor, seemingly feel no hesitancy or qualm of conscience whatever in breaking the law by taking illegally from the common fund that rightfully belongs to 100,000 people. Is it so appallingly wrong to take from a single individual what he is evidently considered shrewd business to grab illegally from the property of a hundred thousand taxpayers?

KEEN BUSINESS VS. PATRIOTISM
Public money in Lake county, apparently to some at least, is public property, and dishonest office-holders vie for the dishonor of putting their grasping hands deepest into the pot of public funds for individual profit.
